

MEDIA LAWYERS ASSOCIATION COUNSEL INFORMATION

Wanjiku Mburu is an accomplished Advocate of the High Court of Kenya, bringing seven years of expertise to her practice. In addition to her legal qualifications, she is a certified professional mediator. Currently, she is pursuing her master's degree in Tax and Customs Administration at Moi University.

Her commitment to safeguarding the freedom of expression and media is evident through her role on the Council of the Media Lawyers Association. Here, she actively contributes to the promotion and protection of these fundamental rights.

With a diverse clientele comprising both local and multinational entities, Wanjiku provides invaluable tax advisory and dispute resolution services. Her proficiency spans all facets of taxation, and she has successfully represented clients in intricate tax disputes, both at the Tax Appeals Tribunal and within the Kenya Revenue Authority's alternative dispute resolution framework.

Beyond taxation, she boasts extensive experience in commercial litigation, having navigated cases through all levels of the Kenyan courts, culminating in the Court of Appeal. Her specialized knowledge in corporate debt recovery has empowered numerous commercial institutions, guiding them in enhancing their legal frameworks for debt recovery. This encompasses meticulous attention to primary contract documents and securities, which form pivotal components of evidentiary processes.

Furthermore, she's proficiency in employment and labor relations law has proven instrumental in helping clients refine their employment practices. She ensures that proper procedures are adhered to in the event of employer-employee disputes.

Wanjiku Mburu stands as a dedicated legal professional, providing comprehensive legal services while championing the principles of justice, expression, and fairness. Her dynamic approach and multifaceted expertise make her a valuable asset in the legal landscape.
